Interactive Online Workshop

Business Interruption:

Ensuring your customers understand what it does and does not cover following Covid-19

Programme Content

The FCA action and the Supreme Court decision on Business Interruption insurance highlighted a major communication breakdown between what insurers intended to cover and what the insureds thought they had protection for.

In this workshop we discuss the coverage provided under a property damage/business interruption policy, the reasons it does not provide coverage against all business interruptions then discuss how we can communicate what it does and does not cover more clearly to our customers.
