Interactive Online Workshop

How will COVID-19 impact the insurance market in the long term?

Programme content

Billions of dollars of claim payments, flexible and digital working, Supreme Court decisions... the COVID-19 pandemic has certainly impacted the insurance market but how will the insurance market be affected in the long term when we and our customers are able to return to work?

In this workshop we examine the impact of the pandemic on the insurance market and its customers and discuss how the market will develop and deliver its products and services in the new environment.
